History of Frank Banfield Park
 This open space, originally named Chancery Park, was created as part of the housing clearance of in Elm Dale and Playfair Streets in 1974. Landscaping began in the summer of 1975. Later that year the park was renamed Frank Banfield Park in honour of Frank Banfield, Mayor of Fulham 1952-53, who died on 31 March 1970, aged 64, after a lifetime of public service.
 The park was extended in 1978-80 across Distillery Lane to Chancery Road. In 2008, the park underwent a major transformation. This latest refurbishment has modernised the site and provided attractive facilities for the local community through improved landscaping and reconfiguration of site entrances and boundary.
