This means that under the Criminal Justice and Police act 2001, a police officer or authorised person may:

- confiscate your alcohol or
- require you to stop drinking.

If you refuse you may be arrested and liable on conviction to a maximum fine of £500.

Persons authorised to confiscate alcohol are:

- any police officer including a police community support officer (PCSO)
- parks constables in the grounds of a public park.

Authorised persons may confiscate open and closed containers of alcohol and dispose of as they see appropriately.

These powers have been granted to address antisocial behaviour (ASB) linked to alcohol consumption in public places. It will be deemed anti social if you are:

- drinking alcohol within close proximity of a school
- drinking alcohol in a bus stop or shelter
- behaving in an antisocial manner, particularly in groups
- littering, urinating or causing a noise or other disturbance in a public place.

If you are caught littering you may be fined £75
