Information and advice for employers of school children
Employment of children

Part II of the Children and Young Persons Act 1963, in conjunction with by-laws made by the London Borough of Hammersmith & Fulham regulates the employment of children under compulsory school age. Pupils whose 16th birthday falls between 1st September and 31st August will be of compulsory school age until the end of the last Friday in June of the year in question. It makes no difference whether they have National Insurance numbers or not.

You must apply to the ACE team, for a permit, and you must only employ a child in a way which is consistent with the permit you receive.

You must notify us that you have employed a child within one week of doing so. We will issue a permit for the employment, provided (i) it is lawful, (ii) it does not jeopardise the child’s health, welfare of ability to take full advantage of his or her education and (iii) he or she is fit to do the work.

No-one under the age of 13 years is allowed to have a job. After their 13th birthday, a child may have a job, which must be part-time and out of school hours. The type of work allowed and the amount of time that may be worked are limited.

Children aged 13 years or over may be employed in any work which does not fall into one of the types of prohibited employment listed opposite, provided it is ‘light work’. You can get further guidance from the ACE team.

You commit an offence if you employ a child in breach of the by-laws and if convicted you may be fined up to £1000 in a magistrate’s court.

Children may only be employed in street trading if (i) aged 14 years or over, (ii) employed by their parents and (iii) in possession of a street trader’s licence issued by the ACE team.

Different regulations govern children’s participation in entertainment. Please ask us for any information you need about this.

How to apply for a work permit
The local authority will issue this on application from an employer, if the conditions are fulfilled. The consent of a parent or carer is necessary, and confirmation may be sought from a medical officer (usually an employee’s school medical officer) that the work will not harm the employee or his or her education.
Application forms are available from local authority offices and secondary schools.
Employees should carry their permits while at work.

The law
It is an offence to employ a pupil without notifying the local authority.
Children who work during school hours are being exploited. Both pupil and employer could be prosecuted and fined heavily if this happens.
(A leaflet about the by-laws is available from the ACE team).
